ALGAIDA

Because of its central position, Algaida is the perfect starting point for different activities:

- cycling and hiking in the surroundings
- golf (Golf Son Antem)
- sunbathing and swimming at the nearby beaches "Es Trenc" and "Cala Pi"
- exploring the island by car

Algaida is a typical rural Majorcan village in the fertile centre plain the "Pla de Mallorca", near the hills of Randa, 20km east of Palma. In the small village (approx. 3.200 inhabitants) surrounded by hills, fields, almond tree plantations and pine woods, you will find several old mill towers and a gothic church dated from the 14th/ 15th century.

Around the market square there are bars and shops and every Friday morning the local farmers offer their fruits and vegetables.

„LA CASA“

We welcome you to Raïms, a little oasis in the centre of the village of Algaida, a manor house dating from the 18th century, well known for its long wine-making tradition. Actually it has one of the oldest wine-cellar of Majorca. In 1999 Raïms was converted very tasteful into a charming hotel.

Enter into the atmosphere of a typical Majorcan manor house, centuries old, with its main entrance with two large, impressive arches and its traditional cobble stoned floors. Also the small family chapel in the lounge is a witness to Majorcan country house tradition. Many little details reflect the life of a period passed by long ago. The big charming garden with its huge palm trees invites you to linger on one of the shady terraces beside the pool or on a bench near the pond filled with water lilies.
